

Publications in PowerSearch and AP Source with a political bias and/or particular public policy agenda

Sampling of publications in PowerSearch (Gale)

yellow indicates title only available in one database, not both

Publication Title	Publisher	FT since	Content Notes
American Conservative	American Conservative LLC	Aug-07	conservative perspective; focuses on issues such as global free trade economy, immigration debate, and America's role in the world
American Prospect	American Prospect, Inc.	Mar-96	liberal perspective
American Spectator	American Spectator	Apr-09	(to Jul-14) conservative perspective
CATO Journal	CATO Institute	Mar-01	libertarian/conservative perspective
Christian Century	Christian Century Fndtn	Dec-92	progressive Christian perspective
Christianity Today	Christianity Today Inc	Oct-92	evangelical Christian perspective
Church and State	Americans United for Separation of Church & State	Jan-97	promotes separation of church & state
Commentary	Commentary, Inc.	Dec-92	neoconservative perspective with focus on Jewish issues and Israel
First Things	Inst on Religion & Public Life	Jan-97	"confront[s] the ideology of secularism" and "promotes common ground shared by evangelical and Catholic Christians on matters of theology, social thought, and public policy"
Humanist	Am. Humanist Asstn	Jan-93	secular, humanist perspective
Independent Review	Independent Institute	Jan-97	libertarian perspective
Mother Jones	Fndtn for National Progress	Jan-02	liberal perspective
National Review	National Review	Jan-83	conservative perspective
New American	Am. Opinion Publishing, Inc.	Sep-01	perspectives of constitutional conservatism and economic libertarianism (affiliated with the John Birch Society)
New Yorker	Conde Nast Publications	Jan-02	leans liberal in perspective, oriented toward upper class audience interested in literature and the arts
Progressive	The Progressive	Jan-93	liberal perspective focused on nonviolence and freedom of speech
Reason	Reason Foundation	Jun-93	libertarian/conservative perspective; focus is on free markets
Spectator	The Spectator Ltd.	Mar-01	UK magazine; leans conservative in perspective
Washington Monthly	Washington Monthly Co.	Jul-85	liberal perspective
Weekly Standard	News America Inc.	Dec-04	(to Jan-15) conservative perspective

The American Spectator 's last print issue was July/August 2014; it now operates as a news media web site.

The Weekly Standard is still published, but in 2015 they ended their agreement with Cengage Gale for inclusion in Gale databases.

Publications in PowerSearch and AP Source with a political bias and/or particular public policy agenda

Sampling of publications in AP Source (EBSCO)

yellow indicates title only available in one database, not both

Publication Title	Publisher	FT since	Content Notes
Advocate	Here Media Inc.	Sep-96	pro-LGBTQ
American Spectator	American Spectator	Feb-90	(to Sep-14) conservative perspective
Atlantic Monthly	Atlantic Media Group	Jan-93	leans liberal in perspective; oriented toward upper class
CATO Journal	CATO Institute	Jan-90	(to Jan-17) libertarian/conservative perspective
Christian Century	Christian Century Fndtn	Jan-94	progressive Christian perspective
Christianity Today	Christianity Today Inc	May-90	evangelical Christian perspective
Commentary	Commentary, Inc.	Jan-85	neoconservative perspective with focus on Jewish issues and Israel
Dissent	U Penn Press	Sep-01	liberal perspective; called "pillar of leftist intellectual provocation" (NYT)
First Things	Inst on Religion & Public Life	Jan-00	"confront[s] the ideology of secularism" and "promotes common ground shared by evangelical and Catholic Christians on matters of theology, social thought, and public policy"
Global Environmental Politics	MIT Press	Feb-01	pro-environment (*1 yr delay for FT)
Independent Review	Independent Institute	Sep-96	libertarian perspective
Monthly Review	Monthly Review Foundation	Jan-94	independent socialist perspective
The Nation	Nation Company, L.P.	Jan-85	liberal perspective (*28-day delay for FT)
The National Review	National Review	Jan-85	conservative perspective
New Republic	TNR II, LLC	Jan-85	liberal perspective
New Statesman	New Statesman Ltd.	Jan-95	"radical weekly" from UK; left and center perspectives
Policy Review	Hoover Institution Press	Jan-90	conservative perspective (affiliated with the Heritage Foundation)
Public Interest	Public Interest	Jan-90	(to Mar-05) neoconservative perspective
Reason	Reason Foundation	Jan-94	libertarian/conservative perspective; focus is on free markets
Skeptic	Skeptics Society	Sep-95	secular, humanist, pro-science perspective

The American Spectator's last print issue was July/August 2014; it now operates as a news media web site.

Public Interest ceased publication in 2005; its successor, National Affairs, maintains an archive @ http://www.nationalaffairs.com/archive/public\_interest/